THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

Expressing Satisfaction over the Settlement of the Alabama Dispute.

London, Nov. 10.—The festivities of the Lord Mayer's Day concluded with the usual banquet given by the Mayor at Guildhall. The members of the Cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Gladstone, the foreign Ministers, leading members of Parliament, and the principal officers of the national and city governments, with a large number of other distinguished guests, were present.

In the course of the evening the Lord Mayor, Sir Sydney Waterlow, proposed the health of the foreign Ministers, coupling with it the names of Mr. Moran, the representative of the Linted States, and Mr. Guiterroz, the Minister of Honduras. He said he was glad to have this opportunity of giving expression to the general feeling of satisfaction at the result of the Geneva arbitration. By this peaceful settlement of a dispute the glory of both nations had been enhanced. America's greatness was England's greatness. Two countries, separated only by the ocean, were one in language, literature, and history. He was sure that the Americans as they watched the progress of England would heartily rejoice at the advance she made.

Mr. Moran replied briefly in acknowledgment of the compliments paid his country.

Lord Selborne (late Sir Roundell Palmer) in a few happy remarks dwelt on the satisfactory termination of the Alabama dispute, and advised the payment of the Geneva award without grumbling.

vised the payment of the Geneva award without grumbling.

Lord Granville responded to the toast to her Majesty's Ministers. He referred at length to the Treaty of Washington, and the successful carrying out of its provisions. Arbitration, he said, was not always possible, particularly when national feelings were aroused on both sides. He rejoiced that England adopted it, although as the vanquished suitor she was disappointed in the result of the award, which, however, only affected her purse, not her honor. Alluding to the San Juan boundary decision, Lord Granville intimated that its importance had been greatly exasgerated. The Government would be ready at the opening of Parliament to give full explanations. He congratulated the country on the conclusion of a new treaty of commerce with France, denounced the continuance of the slave trade, and in conclusion said the Government was resolved to maintain firmly the honor of the Crown, while desirous of promoting peace everywhere.
